Dear Parents,

World Book Day challenge

World Book Day takes place this Thursday 4th March and it is always a lovely opportunity to celebrate books and the pleasure of reading. We won't be holding a 'dress up' event this year but we have prepared a 'Masked Reader' challenge which will go live on Thursday on the Google Classroom stream. The premise is that the children will try and work out which staff member can be heard reading a short clip from different well known stories. There are some tricky ones! More details about the challenge and how to enter will be available on Google Classroom when the challenge is released. The children will also have some World Book Day themed activities as part of their remote learning activities. Information about the World Book Day £1 Book Tokens that are sent out each year will be included in next week's newsletter.

The challenge is purely for fun and there is no expectation to take part as it is in addition to the children's remote learning. However, anyone who does want to take part is very welcome and all entries we receive will get added to a prize draw with the possibility of winning a book voucher. The closing date for entries will be Thursday 11th March and winners will be announced in our Friday assembly so there is plenty of time to give it a go if you'd like to take part.

For children attending school as part of the key worker provision, they will be given the opportunity to complete an entry at school if they attend any of the Thursday or Friday sessions but they are also welcome to play along and submit an entry from home if they would prefer.

Finally, I would like to say a huge thank you to Miss McDermott, our English Subject Leader, for organising the challenge and to Mrs Imrie for creating the presentation. A big thank you to all of the staff as well for joining in! Good luck!

Yours sincerely,
Mrs A Harvey
